ABOUT THE MODELS

GABRIELLE BOUVIER
In my 20 + Gabrielle is currently a junior at Portsmouth High School. She has been involved in the Environmental Change Organization, heading the finance committee, and co-leading the fundraising committee. She has focused on finding ways to keep the planet alive through sustainable actions. Gabrielle has also been a part of Peer Leadership at the school, which is an exclusive community service club.

When she graduates high school, she’s looking forward to learning and giving back to the community as she begins college and her journey to become a physician, something that has always been her passion. Gabrielle has always found ways to volunteer and collaborate with medical professionals, and will continue this pursuit in her career. Gabrielle is interested in majoring in Biochemistry and eventually becoming a surgeon.

JUBILEE BYFIELD
Jubilee Byfield started working with the Portsmouth Black Heritage Trail as a high school student volunteer before serving as a student intern while pursuing a degree in Sociology at the University of New Hampshire. She then became public relations and marketing consultant and a trained tour guide for the Trail. Jubilee leads a youth-focused tour in addition to program development, social media marketing and public relations. She is now working with Women’s Foundation as we partner with the Women’s Heritage Trail.
ABOUT THE MODELS

KIMBERLY McGLINCHHEY
Kimberly McGlinchey is a life time educator who has worked within the state of New Hampshire on multiple non-profit eco-justice programs. Currently she is a teacher at Portsmouth High School where she is involved in multiple activities that foster a culture of change that will support our multiple diversities and ecological environment. As a PhD student in Policy and Leadership in Education at the University of New Hampshire, McGlinchey has spent the last three years connecting the dots between our social justice issues in public institutions to real life community based action, in order to create significant change. This includes educational programs for both teachers and students. As advisor to the ECO Club she has been able to watch students become empowered to make a difference and create change in their community on multiple environmental issues including the plastic bag ban in Portsmouth. McGlinchey resides in Strafford, New Hampshire where she is owner of Morning Dew Gardens. She has three amazing children who live in Providence, RI, New York, NY and Brentwood, NH.

CADEN MERWIN
Caden is a 15 year old honors student from Portsmouth High School. She grew up thrift shopping, and it has remained one of her favorite things. She loves searching for little gems hidden in second hand stores, finding vintage items that are different from current styles. She is also passionate about the environment and thinks this is a great way to help. She spends her time playing volleyball and is passionate about travel as well as architectural design.

ABOUT THE MODELS

DAGAN MIGIRDITCH
Dagan Migirditch is the co-founder and operator of Liars Bench Beer Co., a nano-brewery, taproom & beer garden located in Portsmouth’s up and coming West End. After graduating from UNH in 2008 with a bachelor’s degree in English, Dagan fell in love with Portsmouth. There he began a career in the hospitality industry, rising the ranks from busboy to general manager and in 2016 entrepreneur and brewery owner. As a member of the Seacoast community, Dagan serves on the board of the New Hampshire Brewers Association and advocates for the local chapter of the Coastal Conservation Association. A champion of the arts, Dagan believes firmly that a city’s identity is not formed by it’s businesses but by its citizens and its culture.

TERRENCE PARKER
Terrence Parker has been a landscape architect and landscape artist for decades and is the principal of Terra Firma Landscape Architecture since 1993. Terrence has won several public art competitions recently including his sculpture ‘Working’ at the Foundry Parking Garage that references the work history of the neighborhood and the ‘Kelp Wave’ currently being fabricated for installation at Jenness Beach in Rye, NH.

Terrence has his Master of Landscape Architecture from the University of Georgia (1984) and has traveled to Japan to study temple gardens. After completing his thesis on the use of abstract stone landscapes to articulate human and environmental patterns in the New England landscape, Terrence organized several ‘Stone Occurrences’ to apply his thesis ideas to building dry-stone landscapes with groups of friends. In 2014 he conceived and designed the ‘StoneBale’ in Rollinsford, NH as an extension of this thesis.
ABOUT THE MODELS

TERRENCE PARKER (cntd.)
Terra Firma Landscape Architecture primarily designs spaces for people in residential, urban, commercial developments, and schools and playgrounds. This design work includes the renovation of the streetscape in front of the Music Hall with the sculptural sitting walls, the large architectonic arch over Chestnut Street, and he also designed the grounds for landscaping at 3S Artspace.

JEN SCUMACI
DJ Skooch has been beat-mixing, remixing, and mash-upping groovy tunes on the New England Seacoast since 2014. She has been the opening DJ for the Ladies of LCD Soundsystem National Tour, Thievery Corporation’s Treasures from the Temple Tour, INBOUND Rocks Presents Amy Schumer (2017) and Two Dope Queens (2018). Coined “The Community’s DJ,” Skooch has provided the soundtrack for community-focused events including TEDx Portsmouth, Portsmouth PRIDE, Telluride by the Sea, Beats with Benefits, and Pecha Kucha Night. One of her passions is creating safe spaces for women and the LGBTQ+ community to come together and dance, namely The Sagamore Club Presents Series at The Press Room, See-You-Next-Tuesdays at Fool’s Errand Boston, and the annual Women’s Weekend Ogunquit. You can catch her LIVE on WSCA Portsmouth Community Radio every Monday 6-8pm as she co-hosts Voodoo Tiki Lounge, where listeners are whisked away to tropical destinations and the smoky midcentury basement Tiki bars they inspired. Skooch is SO EXCITED to be a part of Project Upcycle 2020!
